

Living Language Holidays for Children and Teenagers

Do something amazing this year!

Turn learning a foreign language into an adventure

Fancy improving your French on a tour of Paris? Or eating pizza in Florence while you chat in Italian? What about learning to cook paella in Spanish, in a real Spanish kitchen? Learning a foreign language doesn't always mean sitting in a classroom. It can be a real adventure.

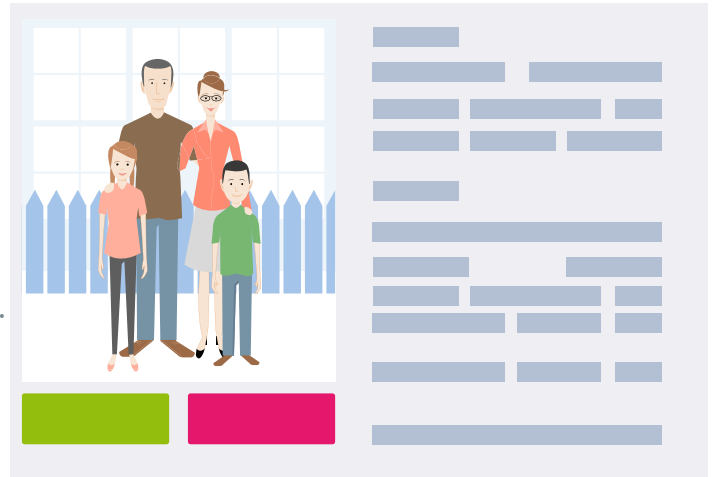

Explore a different culture...

On a Lingoo Living Language Holiday, you visit a country for a few weeks and stay with a local family to improve your language skills. But not just any family – you choose who you stay with on Lingoo.com. There are thousands of Lingoo-approved families across Europe waiting to welcome you into their home and support your language learning. And because security is very important, all Lingoo families go through a stringent validation process carried out by our team.

Make new friends...

Each family has a personal profile on Lingoo.com. You can see pictures of every family member, their house, pets, your room, and read reviews from previous visitors. They even tell you all about the things they like doing. So you can choose someone who shares your interests.

Improve exam results...

Whatever your current language level, staying with a supportive local family overseas makes all the difference in learning. Using the language all day, in everyday situations, in a friendly family atmosphere helps you build confidence, independence and fluency. All this will lead to better exam results, and a fresh view of the world.

Great value...

There are three ways to improve your language skills with Lingoo, each offering great value:

- Language exchange – you stay with a family overseas then their son or daughter stays with you and your family.
- Homestay – you stay with a family overseas.
- Stay with a teacher – you stay in the home of a teacher for more structured lessons.
